

McNerney acted as a ghostwriter, on behalf of Carol Ann Loeb, to promote the duet group's website launch. Please notice the personal voice and interpersonal skills needed to complete the article.

PUBLISHED AUGUST 2014

Chase Loeb ²³
COLLABORATIVE PIANIST AT THE MUSIC SCHOOL
OF SAN JOAQUIN DELTA COLLEGE

Carol Ann Loeb ³⁰
CELLO INSTRUCTOR AND TEACHING
ARTIST AT HARMONY STOCKTON

We are delighted there was space in Lodi for musicians to launch our duet group and build meaningful relationships! After graduating college together, Chase and I moved from Colorado to the San Joaquin area for many reasons, including family history. For instance, just today I harvested the ripened plums, peaches, apricots (and others) which my grandparents had planted in our backyard of the house where my mother was raised. We cherish the wineries, genuine people, and the charming vineyards – Lodi suits our style very well.

Recently, we finished performing in the musical production of Into the Woods at the San Joaquin Delta College School of Music, and are preparing for the upcoming school season. However, our life's joy comes from sharing music on many levels. We enjoy giving free community concerts so people can listen and enjoy a unique atmosphere. Back in the Victorian days, neighbors would play for one another in their home parlors. In that spirit, our goal is to make cello and piano music friendly and accessible to everyone.

Absolutely. Our music duet will be playing another community concert, free, at the Lodi Public Library on Sunday, September 28. Our group is called Strings Attached, and you can visit our website at www.musicwithstringsattached.com

LIFESTYLES

THE MAGAZINE FOR SAN JOAQUIN

august/september 2014 • sanjoaquinlifestyles.com